Emergency Response Management Team
Pandemic Flu Response Plan

Faculty Considerations

- ❖ Encourage your students to practice frequent hand washing and respiratory etiquette.

- ❖ Space students as far apart as possible.

- ❖ Make certain students know how important it is to stay at home when ill, especially with a fever over 101 degrees F, and not to return to class until the fever is gone for at least 24 hours.

- ❖ Review your attendance requirements to determine options for flexibility. Communicate with clinical and internship sites about their policies.

- ❖ Plan for alternative methods to provide course content such as distance learning, email, etc. in the case of large numbers of absences.

- ❖ Emphasize to students the importance of monitoring campus information by checking email and the website frequently.

- ❖ Consider establishing a “buddy” contact system for students to provide another means of communicating classroom and college information.

- ❖ Communicate concerns and suggestions to your appropriate administrator or a member of the Emergency Response Management Team.
